

The CPE Teaching Centre in Fraser Health Fraser Health is responsible for the delivery of hospital and community-based health services to over 1.8 million people in 20 diverse communities from Burnaby to Fraser Canyon on the traditional territories of the Coast Salish peoples. Within Fraser Health, there are 12 hospitals, 77 long-term care homes and 11 hospices. The vision of Fraser Health is “Better health, Best in health care.” Students have the opportunity for a clinical placement at one of these sites consistent with their learning goals, aspirations, needs and the availability of a suitable clinical liaison to the Teaching Supervisor-Educator. Students in this program will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Work with medical staff and allied health professionals such as clinical counsellors, social workers, occupational therapists, physiotherapists, dieticians, etc. • Attend medical rounds and participate in care conferences. • Learn to care for patients and families from an interdisciplinary approach. 	The Educational Approach CPE is an internationally recognized, experiential action-reflection model of spiritual care education that combines intense individual and group supervision with hands on experience with care recipients. It began in the early 20th century in a Boston psychiatric hospital. It has been taught at Providence Health Care for decades. Through combining hands-on learning opportunities with rigorous spiritual reflection, the process teaches interns how to support the people in times of change, crisis, illness or chronic struggle through spiritual means. Through this learning method, interns develop spiritual guides. Twofold Mission: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • To advance experience-based education in Spiritual Health, spiritual leaders and lay persons of diverse cultures, and faith traditions through collaboration with the inter-professional team and innovative community partnerships. • To pursue a vision of holistic care that advances the spiritual empowerment of distressed patients and families in hospital, clinic, long-term care, palliative care, hospice, home care and community settings. 	Students may expect the following through case conferences, interpersonal relationship group (IPR), didactic seminars and individual supervisory (IS) sessions: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Hands-on experience of spiritual care given in the context of modern diversity. • Reflection and articulation of the student’s own spiritual leadership function and relational skills. • An approach to raising self-awareness, including greater awareness of one’s unconscious assumptions. • Exploration of the power of transcendence operating in individuals and communities of all spiritual paths. • The development of skills in working with the whole person in the context of life crises and in a cooperative and collaborative inter-professional team approach. • A process of understanding the dynamics that function unconsciously between persons and in groups. • An approach to increasing self-confidence and fulfilment.

Who May Apply

Anyone who wishes to hone skills for ministry and is committed to personal and professional growth under supervision. An academic, theoretical grounding in theology, and psychospiritual care and counseling training (at a Master’s Degree level) is expected.

Clinical Psychospiritual Education (CPE)

CPE emphasizes a psychospiritual centred approach to care. As a member of an interdisciplinary team, each student’s educational experience involves providing psychospiritual care to patients, residents, families, friends and staff.

Students acquire psychospiritual skills through direct clinical- bedside experience and a core curriculum, which include:

- reflective exercises
- theory seminars
- group work
- case studies
- individual supervision
